

CALENDAR YEAR 1982

JOHNSON & JENSEN - 8 BRIAR RIDGE ROAD - P.O. BOX 1085 - DANBURY, CT 06810

1982 Record Year in Medallic Auction Field

In calendar year 1982, 9,361 lots of medals and closely related material were offered in eight separate auction sales by Johnson & Jensen, medal dealers and appraisers of Danbury, Connecticut—perhaps more medals sold at auction during the year than by any other American numismatic firm.

The more than 9,000 lots sold for just under a third of a million dollars: $328,555.68.

Such volume of numismatic and medallic objects reached the full spectrum within the field, from earliest Renaissance medals to items issued only recently; in every conceivable composition and size; and every possible topical interest. Art medals of the world approached in number those of American issue giving balance to the total offerings and great variety and selection to more than 3,000 medal buyers, collectors and dealers who participated in the eight sales.

Further this is evidence of the firm's credo of being able to identify, describe, appraise, catalog and sell any medallic item of any country, of any period!

Double Sale First In 1982

Most notable throughout the year was the dispersal by auction of the noted medal collection of famed Chicago numismatist-writer Nathan Eglit, whose vast holdings were spread over three auction sales. Making its debut in the double auction sale 15-16, earliest in the year, the Eglit collection was strong in world aviation medals with special emphasis on balloon and dirigible medals.

Also Eglit's unmatched Germanic medals of World War I in silver and wartime ersatz metals were another star attraction of the March 1982 double auction sale.

Medals of German engraver and satirist Karl Goetz were well represented including an unlisted silver Otto Lilienthal manned glider piece of 1930 which saw a winning bid of $340; the artist's rare Field Marshal Erwin Rommel silver medal of 1941 reached $560. Among American rarieties was Victor D. Brenner's round Lincoln Centennial Medal of 1909 with eagle on cliff in bronze, $475. Mail bid sale 16 was strong in Americana, additional aviation and Olympic medals; both sales closed March 28th.

Greater New York Auction

An unusually complete series of Israel state, commissioned and presentation medals opened sale 17 at the Greater New York Numismatic Convention May 16; privately issued Judaic medals and plaques followed with the Judaic Heritage Society's 1979 Camp David Accords gold medal reaching $385.

The Eglit World War I selections included an exceptional offering of medals by the Munich School sculptors, including Hans Lindl, Ludwig Gies, Karl Ott, and others recording war's victories and sufferings in high relief poignancy. Such artists' work seldom comes on today's market.

The Eglit balloon medals offered in this sale included the rare white metal 1896 polar flight commemorative of Swedish explorer Salomon Andree, $230. A selection of red mahogany U.S. Mint medals and silver strikes of the First Steam Coinage and Washington Cabinet issues highlighted American medals in the sale.

Mid-Summer July Sale

A rare silver leaf-shaped medal hailing Austria's defeat of the Turks at Zenta in 1697 opened Mid-Summer Sale 18 in July 1982 with a closing bid of $325; so-called dollars were highlighted by a pristine bimetallic Bickford International Trade Dollar in brass-aluminum, 1897, $143.

This sale saw several exceptional Washington medals go before the buying public including the Ugly Head Medal (Baker 89) at $150; the Fictional Effigy Medal of 1819 (Baker 130) at $125; Lincoln material was highlighted by an 1860 silver brass ferrotype of a young Lincoln and Vice President Hannibal Hamlin, $200.

Presidential Inaugural medals included the Grover Cleveland—Adlai E. Stevenson 1893 issue with intact ribbon and header, $800; a Franklin Mint photographer's proof reverse shell of the 1973 Nixon—Agnew medal in silver went to $120.

Boston Collectibles Show Auction

Boston's National Collectibles Exposition was site of sale 19 on August 16; Germanic medals included several Hitler and Third Reich pieces issued in glass, porcelain and enamelled metal including a German-American Friendship Ring badge with swastika, stars & stripes, $65.

American medals featured a galvanoin large format of Ruth Brooks' stately Monarch of the Plains with its imposing buffalo, $210; a virtually complete Society of Medalists set of 1930-1982 in bronze (100 pieces) brought $1,900.

Electrifying this sale at the Boston Plaza Hotel was the Knight Commander's Cross of Hawaii's Royal Order of Kamehameha 1, awarded to American naval hero Henry Knox Thatcher in 1867. An exciting duel between floor bidders and a determined Ohio telephone bidder saw the glittering cased decoration climb to a winning $2,750.

Grand Central November Auction

Approaching her centenary, the Statue of Liberty beckoned a winning bid of $220 for Tasset's 1876 bronze medal with its New York view at the start of sale 21 on November 22, after viewing of lots at the Grand Central Coin Convention. Continuing popularity of aviation items was quickly demonstrated by Leo Crawford's bronze foundry cast Lindbergh plaque of 1927, $275; the French Medal Club's 1969 Walt Disney tribute in 51/4-inch bronze brought $175.

A silver American Numismatic Society Amerigo Vespucci plaquette of 1903 by Victor David Brenner realized $400; a 1930 Medallic Art Company reduction in bronze of Brenner's famed Lincoln plaque brought $105.

Appearing for the first time in a Johnson & Jensen auction was a selection of commemorative silver spoons including exposition, topical and presidential pieces of highest quality. This related collecting area is now another attraction of the firm's auction offerings. A variety of U.S. political items strong in Franklin D. Roosevelt campaign medals and buttons as well as Harry S. Truman pieces from the Eglit collection rounded out this sale.

Decorations Dominate December Sale

Comprising more than 420 lots in Johnson & Jensen's December 11 sale at the New York International Numismatic Convention was one of the largest offerings of world Orders and decorations to appear on the numismatic market in recent years. Cataloged in the systematic and concise method pioneered by the Danbury firm, the glittering gold, silver and multi-enameled pieces were snapped up by an unusually active buying public despite a blizzard visiting the New York area on the day of the sale.

Austria's Order of Maria Theresa Knight's Cross went to $265; Knight's Cross of the Order of Franz Josef for $235; Belgium's Commander's Cross of the Order of Leopold realized $220, all with full ribbons appropriate to the decorations.

Assembled by a Philadelphia collector with an eye for beauty, condition and completeness, the collection included Finland's Order of the White Rosc Commander Second Class in silver, $300; France's Order of Liberation, one of 1,053 awarded by Charles De Gaulle, $125 in bronze; the colonial Order of the Black Star of Benin Commander's Badge, $200.

German decorations included the Baden Order of the Zaehringen Lion Knight's Second Class cross with green crystal arms at $220; Bavaria's Order of Saint Michael Knight's Cross at $220; and the Saxon Duchies' Ernestine House Order Second Class with swords, $525.

Tiny Waldeck's Fourth Class Order of Merit ($190); Prussia's Royal House order of Hohenzollern type III Knight's Badge ($220) and a Prussian officer's 10-piece decoration bar spanning two world wars ($600) typified the interest in the German section.

British awards included the Order of Saint Michael and Saint George Knight Commander's insignia at $825; a silver Distinguished Service Cross at $400 and 16-piece miniature bar of a brigadier of the two world wars at $300 summed up the collector demand for quality British Empire material.

Choice Italian, Japanese pieces and Lithuania's Order of Gediminas ($350); Poland's type 11 Order of the White Eagle of 1921 ($1,200) and Grand Cross of the Order of Military Virtue of 1919 ($600): Russia's Kercnsky Government Order of Saint Stanislas ($260) were among world decoration highlights.

Ottoman Turkey's Second Class decorations of the Orders of the Mejidie ($400) and the Osmanieh ($300) in enamelled silver were among the more exotic designs in this landmark decorations auction; among Allied Victory Medals of World War I was the much sought-after Cuban piece at $300.

An unbeatable combination of Karl Goetz and the crash of the airship Hindenburg drove the 1942 cast bronze medallion of this disaster to $400; a Sevres porcelain coronation mcdallion of Britain's King Edward VII in 1902 came to $300; a boxwood uniface medal of Bernhard Georg of Hennenberg of about 1530 brought $575.

ANS Medals in silver of Charles Edward Anthon in 1884 and Francis Drake in 1907 realized $500 and $360; a Brenner Shepherdess (Rebecca by the Well) plaque of 1907 brought $575.

Continuing Strength in Medal Market

Looking over the year of active and varied sales, both D. Wayne Johnson and Chris E. Jenson agreed that the future of medal collecting has remained a bright one, with trends of interest accelerating in high-quality material such as 19th century U.S. Mint medals, early silver and bronze world material of the 18th century; numismatics-related medals of the ANS, medal-making and famous sculptors; high-interest 20th century topical items in ballooning, Goetz, Olympic and medical medals.

Most popular lot. A U.S. Service Award Medal (the Philippine Insurrection Medal of 1889; lot 1669 in Auction 16) received the greatest number of bids of all lots during the year. We stopped recording bids about the 20th entry and only recorded advances, but have 25 entries in the bid book! Estimated at $20-25, it sold for $46.

No bid lots. In the five called auctions during 1982, only 8 lots were passed; virtually everything sells in unreserved sales. On the other hand, in mail bid only portions or sales, a larger percentage of lots did not receive a single bid. In accordance with consignors' wishes these lots were either returned to them, or rerun at a later sale.

Returned lots. We did not keep records, but returned lots were probably less than two dozen; perhaps one lot in every 400. We attribute this low number to close attention to details in our catalog preparation—careful measurements, accurate descriptions, intelligent grading, and finally, conscientious proofreading. When you read a description in a J&J catalog, you can feel it accurately describes the material in that lot.

Photos. One in five lots were illustrated (19.09%) in 1982. In J&J catalogs the illustration is above the description (not on a separate plate or another page). It is more difficult to do this, but we feel it is important and a greater help to the reader.
